There is much building and much mov ing into new houses these days of spring. That is, by people who are fortunate enough to own their abiding places. For the vast herd of "those who hire," there is-nothing. The scarcity of small houses and the like is appalling, and as for apartment-houses we never did have many, anyhow, and unless some builders from other cities come down here before the World's Fair and get busy with brick and mortar, we wen't have many more in 190 than we have now.

But smart people galore have been settling themselves in new quarters for a year past, and the way Hortense place has spring into popularity is asionishing. The Charles Clark, Jrs., and their young daughter have a fine new house out there, with Mr and Mrs. Bert Walker, Mr. and Mrs Sidney Walker and Mr. and Mrs. Amades Reyburn, Jr., for their neighbors, Mr. Goldman has the most pretentious dwelling in the place, with an enormous ballroom on the top floor and all sorts of new household appliances from top to celnew household appliances from top to cel

It is a little early as yet for people to make plans for the summer, except for these who possess a regularly appointed place of residence by seaside or lakeshore or mountain path. The William C. Littles will presently have a fine country place at their command.

Mr. Little purchased a tract of eighteen acres near the Country Club, but nearer Clayton, fully a year ago, and building on it is to begin at once. A large and hand-rome Colonial mansion is to be erected, and in all it will form one of the finest suburban places of residence in these parts. At the Ashley D. Scott cottage at Weque topsing this summer there will be much wedding activity. Mrs. Scott's niece, Miss Marian Lindsay, has chosen to be married to her Cincinnati swain, Mr. Squires, some time in July, and the wedding will partake largely of al-fresco features. Mr. and Mrs. John Hays Hammond, who are pleasantly remembered in St. Louis, where they are frequently entertained by Mrs. Hamond's sister, Mrs. Charles Hoyle, have taken a cottage at Rye, N. The Misses Alma and Etta Portner of Washington, D. C., who are visiting Miss Anna Koehler, have been agreeably enter-tained by their hostess and her friends during the last week. Miss Koehler gave them a pretty luncheon on one day, with only girls as guests. They were the hon-orees of a theater party and supper last Monday night, when the "Liberty Belles" held the boards, and have had numerous coach rides, parties at the ball games, and similar pleasing festivities given for them.

Suburban society has received the anengagement to Gaylord Bell of St. Louis. The wedding is to follow on the third of June. Miss Brown is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brown of Webster, and has for several seasons enjoyed much popularity in the suburbs and elsewhere, by reason of the fact that she is pretty and winsome. Five or six functions of various sorts have been planned by her friends as

The Jockey Club this season will make considerable effort in a social direction, and indications point to a recurrence of former days, when the ciubhouse and piazzas were thronged with the best people of town, all in gala garb; while the band played and white-aprened waiters rushed to and fro to jolly parties on the greensward unde the big striped umbrellas. Racing fell en-sadly last summer, baseball proving a pow-rful counter attraction with the socienty people who stayed at home. Just what will be the outcome of this summer's racing campaign remains to be seen. The Board of Governors, just announced, for the Fair Association, the various committees for Association, the various committees for golf and the like, indicate that well-known and popular men are awake to the sport; and, after all, we may hope for jolly times this year at the pretty clubhouse.

Robert Mudd is chairman of the Govern-ing Board, while the remaining members are James T. Drummond, Will Orthwein, John Carter, Allan Simpkins, Lacy Crawford, Isaac Cook, John S. Leahy, John C. Roberts, Manny Hodgman, Sidney Walker, J. E. Martin, Rudolph Limberg, Charles Green, Park von Wedelstaedt and C. A. Tilles. On the House Committee are David Calhoun, Lacy Crawford, Manny Hodgman John Hachmeister and Robert Mudd. The men who look after the interests of golf are John Carter, James Drummond, Robert Mudd. J. S. Walker and Valle Reyburn, wife is also the steward. Saturday, May 3, is opening day. The clubhouse will be flower-decked; the band will not only play between races, but will give a concert afterward, filling in the inter-val between racing and dining; and there will be a table d'hote dinner served from half after 6 to half after 8.

Mrs. Jones's tea was an exceedingly pret-ty affair. The house, which is quite a bijou, full of art treasures, was beautifully trimmed with American beauties, and unusually fine ones they were, for so late in the season. The serving table was massed with this long-stemmed queen of roses, while high cut-glass vases were distributed all over the house, in every available nook and cranny. Mrs. Jones wore a stunning gown of yellow, which is one of her best colors. The outer frock was of pale bisque etamine, over a yellow silk, the ornamentaetamine, over a yellow silk, the ornamenta-tion supplied by a woven border in polka-dot effect of brown and vellow dots. The serving was done by Edwina Tutt and Julia Rumsey, Grace Finkenbiner and Frances Jones, who is not yet out.

Of course nobody was in the least surprised at the engagement announ since we have all been expecting it for at least six weeks, but congratulations and good wishes were quite as hearty, neverthe-less, and Mr. Rumsey may well felicitate himself on winning as popular and as attractive a girl as Miss Chappell.

Mrs. Ellis Hallett, who was Alice Scudder, is in town for a fortnight, with Mr. and Mrs. Elisha Scudder, and of course is the charming excuse for a round of functions. Mrs. Scudder opened festivities by a lively little luncheon on Friday afternoon, when Mrs. Rutherford Chappell, Mrs. Wallace Simmons, Emma McKeen, Grace Massey, Helen Noel, Grace Gale and Madge Curry Heien Noel, Grace Gaie and Madge Curry were the guests. This week there will be a luncheon by Miss Massey, another small luncheon by Miss Gale, and a tea by Mrs. Wallace Simmons, all in honor of Mrs. Hallett, who has been in New York for a menth or two, and is now on the way to Colorado to Join her husband.

The very latest engagement to be made known is that of Miss Madge Curry and Charles Noel, who have asked their friends for congratulations since Thursday even ing. Miss Curry lived in town until two years ago, when her family removed to New York. She has frequently visited the sister of her flance, Miss Helen Noel, who will be maid of honor at the wedding. The date is set for the first week of June. SERENA LAMB.

One of the pretty weddings of the season took place at St. Malachy's Church, corner Ewing and Clark avenues, Wednesday evening. Miss Albertta Pourcillie was married to Mr. William M. Ryan, the ceremony being performed by the Reverend Father William Randall. Miss Annertta Pourcillie, the twin sister of the bride, wearing a gown of Paris muslin, acted as bridesmaid, and Mr. Dan Shaughnessy as best man. The bride entered the church attired in a point d'esprit robe, a tulle veil fastened by a diamond pin, and proceeded by flower children—Master Harry and Miss Alice Lange, cousins of the bride, and the Misses Florence and Genevieve Pourcille. A reception followed at the residence of the bride's parents, No. 2529 Clark avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Ryan will reside at No. 2733A Walnut street.

Doctor John Schmidt and Miss Marie Appelbaum were married Wednesday at 2 p. m. by the Reverend Father Goller of SS. Peter and Paul's Church. The bridesmalls were Misses Angelina Groil and Helen Hessel, while the bridegroom was assisted by Bruno E. Seamann and Doctor Otto B. lich of Chicago. The bride wore a gown of wite satin, trimmed with lace. The bridesmaids wore white gowns, trimmed with Valenciennes lace, and carried bouquets of pink roses. In the evening a reception took place at the home of the bride's parents, No. 2832 Lemp avenue.

A pretty wedding took place last Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, when Miss Anna Cornwell Jackson was married to Mr. Martell Elbert Montgomery at her home, No. 1630 Hamilton avenue, Reverend Milliann Fearer of the Reformed Presbyterian Church performing the ceremony. The bride wore white tucked French lawn, trimmed with medallions of Valenciennes lace. Her veil, an heirloom, was of embroidered tulle, and she carried a shower boquet of lilles of the valley. Her sister, Miss Maude Jackson, attended her as maid of honor, wearing a gown of pink dotted silk mull and carrying white carnations.

The bridegroom was attended by his cousin, Mr. John McKinley, as best man. Owing to the recent death of the bridegroom's father, the wedding was very quiet, only the families being present. The young couple will be at home Thursdays in May at No. 1208A North King's highway boulevard.

Miss Jewel Sutter and Mr. John Martin will be married Wednesday evening, April 30. It will be a home affair. The ceremony will be performed by the Reverend E. J. Rinkel, cousin of the bride, after which they will depart for a Western trip.

The Dominant Ninth and Verdi Choruses of Alton will give Gounod's "Redemption" on April 30. In Temple Theater, Alton, under the direction of Mrs. Charles B. Rohland. Soloists are: Miss Jeannette McClanahan, Mrs. Ewell Buchner, Mr. Clinton Elder and Mr. Charles W. Clark. The chorus will be assisted by Mrs. F. W. Taylor, Mr. W. D. Armstrong and a portion of the Choral-Symphony Orchestra.

On Frioay, April 25, Mrs. Rohland gave to the subscribers of the Dominant Ninth an informal illustrated talk on the score of the "Redemption."

The Twentieth Century Art Club met with Mrs. Ingalls, No. 4119 Westminster place, on April 14. The members listened to three subjects entertainingly given them by Mmes. Dobyne, Guyett and McFarlane. Mrs. Dobyne told of Guido Reni, his life and his art. Mrs. Guyett spoke of Raphael and his early work. Mrs. McFarlane's paper on the Loggia and Vatican Frescoes impressed everyone with its evidence of careful study and the thorough knowledge of the subject on the part of its writer.

The P. E. O. Club met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. J. S. Kendrick, Webster Park. Owing to the amount of business before the club the literary programme was omitted. At the close of the afternoon session luncheon was served, the dining-room being decorated with spring flowers.

The first of a series of three lectures to be given by Mrs. Martha Davis Griffith, assisted by the ladies of the Literary Symposium, took place Tuesday evening at the Conservatorium, and proved a pleasant affair. Mrs. George Carne rendered three old English songs. Miss Alice Layat gave pleasure with her violin playing.

The Literary Symposium closed its season Wednesday with a large attendance of members and friends. Mrs. Griffith gave a study on "The Taming of the Shrew." Shakespeare invented a new method of taming a shrew, while the cruel "Brank," or "Tongue Tamer," and the "ducking stool" were common instruments of torture in England. She showed that Shakespeare's art changed the will without crushing the spirit of the wild Kate. She read passages from the woolng, wedding and banquet scenes. William B. Anderson proposed, and it was unanimously agreed, that the club shall study Shakespeare next season with Mrs. Martha Davis Griffith as leader. Meetings will be resumed next October at Hotel Beers.

day of their little daughter, Maida Carrie.

The most beautiful trains are those of the Big Four to New York and Boston.

The morning entertainment given yesterday by Mrs. George F. Tower, Jr., and Miss Sarah Tower proved one of the very interesting and attractive functions of the spring. At 11 o'clock the Odeon Recital Hail was completely filled with smart women in their brightest gown, who listened for an hour to Miss Chamberlain of Boston, who gave an interpretative recital of an old Danish drama, entitled "Kin Rene's Daughter."

Miss Chamberlain will long be remembered for her delightful rendition of the short play. Her vocal abilities are marked, and her art as an actress is unquestioned. In speech she is very like Miss Ida Conquest. With many of the same musical inflections, and her change of voice in impersonating the various parts of King, nurse, the gentle blind daughter, and the gallant knight, was so perfect and so absorbingly ingresting to her hearers, that not even a whisper pervaded the assembly during the three short acts of the play. Then came spirited applause from white-gloved hands; and a buzz of admiring comments.

The studio looked very attractive. On the small stage was a background of palms, bright scarlet geranhums interspersed, with a fringe of green plants across the footlights. A mammont bouquet of pale pink carnations stood beside Miss Chamberlain, who wore a smart gown of black jetted lace, cut with round neck to give full play for her vocal efforts. Mrs. Tower received in a white etamine gown, strapped with white slik, the bodice covered with heavy white lace. Miss Tower wore golden-brown foulard, touched with buttercup yellow satin and trimmed in cream lace. Miss Fischel in blue and white sik; Miss Bessle Green, in bisque etamine; Miss Charlotte Taussig, in green cloth, and Miss Charlotte Taussig, in green cloth, and Miss Charlotte Taussig, in green cloth, and Miss Hilda Melsenbach, in eeru cloth and blouse of white liberty satin, ushered.

SOCIAL CLUBS.

lections by Mrs. De Prez, Mrs. Logan, Mrs. Gardner and Miss Williams. The next meeting will be Friday, May 2, at Mrs. Eugene De Prez's, No. 1812A Semple avenue. Subject, "Tennyson."

The "Luzons" gave their initial dance of the season last Saturday, April 19, at which recitations, songs and dancing were en-loyed. This dance being such a success, the committee has decided to arrange a "furniture-car plenic" for the coming month to Falling Springs, Ill., at which both ladles and gentlemen will be uniformed alike in white duck, emblematic of the club.

Those present at the dance were the committee of the club.
